A MEMORIAL CHAPEL. Laying the Corner Stone in the Grounds of Georgetown University. A large crowd witnessed the ceremo the laying of the corner store of the Dahlgren Memorial Chapel of Georgetown College yester day afternoon. The procession of officiating clergymen and prelates formed in the corridors of the main college building, and promptly at 4:30 the two crossbearers, followed by acolytes, senior students of the college and choir, in cassocks and surplices, appeared at the central entrance of the college and moved slowly across the quadrangle back of the building to the chapel. Then came Bishop Montes de Oca of Mexico, attended by Rev. A. B. Boursard, president of Woodstock College, Md., and Rev. C. Gillespie, president of Gonzaga College, Washington. Bishop Keane of the Catholic Univerington. Bishop Keane of the Catholic University, this city, followed, attended by Rev. Jacob Walter of this city and Rev. Wm. Bartlett of St. Anne's, Baltimore, preceded by four acolytes, in white surplices, bearing holy water, the silver trowel and the copper box with the articles to be put in the corner stone, and attended by Father Hogan of the Catholic University and Father Abram Hewitt, C. S. P.

The brilliant vestments of Cardinal Gibbons appeared in the doorway, with the glittering crosier in his hand and attired in mitre and cane. The assistant priests to the cardinal were croser in his hand and attired in mitre and cape. The assistant priests to the cardinal were the Rev. Thos. J. Campbell, S. J., and Rev. J. Havens Richard, S. J., president of Georgetown College. On the arrival at the chapel the officiating clergymen ranged themselves in a semi-circle around the stone and the cardinal delivered a short address. He spoke of the piety and zeal which prompted the erection of temples to God, and said that while in former times this honor was said that while in former times this honor was reserved for kings, it is now often the task of those whose generous hearts, filled with love, prompt them to such deeds. In the name of the professors and students of the college he thanked the donors of this gift.

At the conclusion of the cardinal's speech the ceremony of blessing the chapel took place, during which the choir chanted the "Miserere."

during which the choir chanted the "Miserere." Then, placing the copper box in its receptacle and laving on the mortar, the stone was closed while the choir chanted. The cardinal, attended by the deacons of honor and acolytes, slowly walked around the foundations of the building, sprinkling sholy water and blessing the structure, after which the procession was reformed and made its way back to the college. In the box placed in the corner stone was placed copies of the daily papers, a photograph of Mr. and Mrs. John Vinton Dahlgren, the coins of this year, catalogue of the college, relies of saints, which were deposted by the the coins of this year, catalogue of the colle relics of saints, which were donated by relics of saints, which were donated by the Convent of the Visitation, and a Latin inscription commemorating Mrs. Dahlgren.

Among the distinguished clergy present were Drs. Pohle and Pace of Washington, Rev. Fathers O'Connell, McCoy, Kervic and Dyer, Father Tankere of St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore; Rev. Wm. Scanlon of Holy Trinity, Georgetewn; Father Cowardin of Lyola College Ealtimore, Rev. Charles Heichemer, Rev.

Miss Lincoln's Concert.—The testimonial concert tendered Miss Bertha D. P. Lincoln at the Universalist Church last evening was not as largely attended as it should have been, yet a goodly number of her friends were there to welgoody humber of her friends were there to well-come her and enjoy the very pleasant program provided. Miss Lincoln's solo numbers were the scena and prayer from Web-er's "Der Freischutz," the familiar valse from Gounod's "Romeo and Juliet" and Tosti's "Beauty's Eyes." She was also heard in a duet with Mr. Howland from Cowen's "Been Maiden," and with Mr. Begger and Mr. "Rose Maiden," and with Mr. Rieger and Mr. Howland in the trio from "Il Lombardi." Miss Howland in the trio from "Il Lombardi." Miss Lincoln was in excellent voice and her friends were gratified to observe a marked improve-ment in her singing. Her work last evening evidenced earnest and conscientious study and she is to be congratulated upon her success. Mr. Rieger was also in excellent voice, and sang his numbers as delightfully as ever. His voice is one of the best teners on the con-cept stage. Mr. Howland, a voung beginning cert stage. Mr. Howland, a young baritone has a good voice, though not so pleasing in th upper register and sings with good effect. Mr Binger's 'cello solo, Golterman's concerto No 4, was rendered very creditably. Mr. Percy's organ solos were pleasingly given, despite the fact that the instrument at his disposal placed him at no little disadvantage. He was the ac. tory one. Miss Lincoln was the recipient of many beautiful floral offerings, and at the close many beautiful Boral offerings, and at the close of the concert of many sincere congratulations. The Georgetown Orchestra will give its last concert this season, and its conductor, Mr. Josef Kaspar, intends that it shall be one of the best that KERNAN'S LYCEUM. - The International Vaudethe organization has presented. The program includes Beethoven's first symphony, a Bizet suite with a flute solo, a Haydn screnade and a Volkman waltz, and Auber's overture, "La Muette de Portici," by the orchestra, which in Muette de Portici," by the orchestra, which in the serenade and waltz will have the assistance of the Wilhelmj Club; two numbers by Mr. James Sauvage, baritone; two solo violin movements by Mr. Johannes Miersch of Boston and a piano solo by Miss Lotta Mills, whose work during the past winter has excited so much favorable comment. These numbers will furnish an entertainment fully as enjoyable as any that has been given during this season, and the Luther Place Memorial Church should be crowded this even-MARTYN SCHOOL OF ORATORY.—The

THE POOL ROOM HOMICIDE. Victor McCreary Sentenced to Jail and Fine Imposed-Judge Cox's Remarks. On the opening of the Criminal Court this morning Judge Cox sentenced the youth, Victor McCreary, to one year less a day in jail and a fine of $100 on his ples of guilty of manslaughter entered yesterday. The indictment charged him with the murder of Arthur C. Vandeventer by striking him with a billiard cue in a pool room on February 22 last. Judge Cox said that he had reflected on the evidence and was satisfied that the accused had no intention to inflict fatal injury or more than to knock deceased down. The instrument-the billiard cue—while in the hands of an able-bodied man might be regarded as a deadly instrument, could scarcely be considered such in the hands of the prisoner. There appeared to be some provo-cation for the blow, but the witnesses did not hear the words, and the defendant claimed that Mr. Langley has kindly consented to the opening of the chapel of the Smithsonian Instiwould have been accompanied by a recom-mendation to mercy, and he was not inclined to send him to the penitentiary.

Honest, but He Will Drink. When Jim Curtis, a negro, was on trial in Judge Kimball's court this morning his employer, a colored man named Ware, was called as a witness as to character.

"and, judge, if you don't believe me you can ask Mr. B. H. Warner or Mr. Brown of Fitch, Fox & Brown, real estate agents. He works in the houses of all the big people and I keeps wered Ware.

"But, judge," added witness, "Jim certainly won't steal, and you can frust him anywhere and with anything except a bottle of whisky."

A Lecture on Africa Tonight. Mrs. M. French-Sheldon will deliver a lecture tonight at the Builders' Exchange Hall under the auspices of the National Geographical So-ciety. Mrs. Sheldon is probably the most celeciety. Mrs. Sheldon is probably the most cele-brated woman traveler in the world. She has spent much time in exploring the in-terior of Africa and was the first white woman who ever visited Mount Kilman-jaro in central Africa, the third highest moun-tain in the world. She is the only white per-son who has ever led an expedition in Africa among native and some hostile tribes with-out the aid of a single European or lieu-tenant. Mrs. French-Sheldon's subject to-night will be "From Sultan to Sultan Among the Native Tribes of East Africa," and will be illustrated by original lantern slides and the largest collection of curios ever brought from Chaga land. The cards, which have been issued by the Geographical Society, must be presented at the door and will be taken up.

ITALY AT THE WORLD'S PAIR. Wealthy Individuals Offer to Assist in Mak-

It seems now as though Italy would be satisfactorily represented at the world's fair. Mr. C. F. Z. Caracristi, secretary of the Italo American world's fair board of promotion knows something of the prevalent conditions and to a STAR reporter said:

"It seems that since the settlen little differences between Italy and the United States the feeling of sending an official representative to the world's fair has been rapdly growing, and I have no doubt but that within a few weeks the whole matter will be in good shape. "The cablegram which found its way into the press stating that the government had agreed to send commissioners, to be selected from and by the Italian boards of trade, is too absurd to be thought of with any seriousness. It seems to be a falsehood made of whole cloth.

"A monarchical government does not gener ally leave its affairs to be attended to by a pri vate society or corporption, and especially i this so when a trade organization is in question Americans cannot appreciate the strict rules governing the actions of a monarchy; if they did no credence would be placed in the rash assertions so ably manufactured for American con tions so ably manufactured for American consumption. Of course some of the chambers of commerce might send their representatives to Chicago as exhibitors of the wares of their respective cities, but the government will have no more to do with those people than will the Czar of Russia. Private advices from Rome inform me that his majesty the king will bring the question of Italian representation at the world's fair before the new Italian cabinet at a very early date. This means that official representation is fully assured."

"How do the Italians of this country feel on the subject?" was asked. ct?" was asked.

"Well, they are very much dejected over Italy's non-action, and the fact is that some of the more wealthy have written me, offering to subscribe to a fund to pay the expenses of an Italian commission; but such a proposition to the government would be as absurd as the sup-

He will then have behind him such leaders as Clarkson, Quay, Platt, Thurs-ton, Langston and Fassett, with all that that implies."

noon train. He would say nothing in regard to be conference.

Gen. Alger was reticent when approached in regard to the conference. What the outcome of the conference was he declined to state, but said that the political situation was canvassed by those present and its possibilities discussed. All were in favor of James G. Blaine for President and every means would be need to conference. All were in favor of James G. Blaine for President, and every means would be used to get him to accept the nomination. The general declared that the talk about a conspiracy against President Harrison was silly, for the reason that in this country, where every man has a right to have and express an opinion, such a meeting as that held Wednesday evening was no conspiracy. CLEVELAND'S DANGER nty as to the Action of the Co New York Convention. It is possible that the action of the movers of the May convention in New York may make futile all the efforts of the Cleveland people outside of that state.

The conviction has become very general at Washington that Mr. Cleveland will not permit his name to go before the national convention if Mr. Grace's convention adopts such a course as would place the Cleveland people hopelessly in opposition to the regular democratic organ

The understanding is that if the May conver tion goes much further than to merely make an earnest protest against the manner in which the other February convention was called and held Mr. Cleveland will write a letter withdrawing his candidacy.

Barring the danger he runs from injudicious action of some of his friends in New York, it is generally believed that Cleveland is in better e would be.

If, however, the Grace convention drives him out of the race, by making him merely the candidate of a bolting faction in the state, it will leave the Cleveland people in other parts of the country without a candidate and scatter their Mr. Blount of Georgia said to a STAR re-porter today that he thought it evident that there was an overwhelming demand from dem-ocrats outside of New York for the nomination overcome except by very determined opposition in New York, and it was doubtful whether that could prevent his nomination.

"This is not due to hero worship," Mr. Bloun declared, "but to the fact that the democrats of the country are bound to make tariff reform the all-absorbing issue of the campaign, and not to let up on it until the object is accom-plished. They believe that they can make the issue clearer with Cleveland than with any other man as a candidate, and that is why they demand his nomination

HILL'S EXPECTATIONS VANISHED.

There are excellent reasons for the belief that use

Mr. Hill no longer entertains the expectation that he will be nominated by the democrats at that he will be nominated by the democrats at Chicago. It is believed that he will stay in the fight for the purpose of killing Cleveland if possible, but that the sanguine spirit which has possessed him so long has vanished.

The Cleveland men have generally become convinced that if Cleveland is nominated he will get no support from Mr. Hill during the presidential campaign.

REVENUE CUTTER SERVICE. Secretary Tracy Makes a Strong Argumen Favoring the Transfer. Today Secretary Tracy appeared before the House naval committee and made a strong argument in favor of the transfer of the revenue marine service to the navy. The Secretary pre sented the case fully from his standpoint to the committee and gave at length his reasons why by the proposed legislation. The point of the Secretary's argument was that the transfer would give naval officers opportunities to familiarize themselves with our coasts by service on cutters, which they could not get by duty on sea-going vessels, and that it would result in a great saving from an economic standpoint to the government.

Under the present condition of promotion in the navy the Secretary stated it was seldom that the navy the Secretary stated it was seldom that an officer got command of a ship until he was nearly fifty years of age, and by that time he had to a certain extent lost confidence in himself. By the transfer some ensigns and lieutenants would immediately have commands, and a means would be provided to give a number of officers duty at sea who cannot now have that service for lack of ships. Not more than one-third of the officers of the navy could now be employed on sea-going ships, the Secretary stated, even when all the vessels under construction were completed. ompleted.

The Secretary thought the objections raise

The Secretary thought the objections raised against the measure were purely sentimental and did not believe it would demoralize the young officers, as had been stated, any more than duty on receiving ships, detached duty or other service not purely military.

In concluding his argument the Secretary stated that he still adhered to his former declarations favoring the bill.

Indirectly he administered a severe rebute to certain naval officers who have zealousy engaged in the effort to defeat the bill by remarking that he felt it necessary to address the committee in support of the measure, lest the members should be impressed with the belief that ertain arguments made before it by bureau officers of the Navy Department were made with his approval or consent. 5c.; Fruit of the Loom Cotton, very best, 8½c.; Homespun Cheviots, new style dress goods, pure wool, double width, 39c.
